Died

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beutly, of Clonfert, last week passed to rest after a short illness. She had been removed to the hospital at Shaunavon while hopes were entertained of her recovery, and her death came as a shock to many. Winnie Beutly was well known in this district and had many friends. Her life has always been useful and great was her devotion to her home. The large course of friends which followed her to her resting place was a striking witness of the esteem with which she was held. The remains were interred in the west little cemetery at Clonfert. She was borne to her grave by some of her girl friends. Many floral tributes were brought by sorrowing friends. The whole country sympathized with Mr. and Mrs. Beutly and relatives in their great bereavement—Shaunavon Standard, Sask.

It is only a few months since Miss Beutly left the Clareholm post office, apparently in the best of health. She was always bright, cheerful, and obliging and everyone will be sorry to hear of her death.

War Notes

Since the crown prince began his retreat his armies have fallen back 20 miles and lost 40,000 prisoners. The present German position is nearly a straight line between Soisson and Rheims. The latter town is nearly surrounded by the enemy on three sides though the latest success have relieved the pressure east of the city.

Gen. Mangin's army captured 500 cannon and 500 trench mortars during the fighting along the river Cise last Friday, says the Petit Parisien.

Each day added to the booty captured by the Allies. It will be impossible to take full stock for some time, but the booty includes a considerable number of 75mm. guns, many of them were found in the depth of the woods of Arcy-sur-Thoul and the forest of Pore. The number of 75mm. shells salvaged up to the present totals 1,500,000.

An American general is said to have told King George that the United States could be depended upon without seriously affecting the essential operations at home, and without jeopardizing the spirit of the people, to send at least an army of 15,000,000 men, eager and willing to take their part, and would be forthcoming if necessary.

A feature in the London Gazette, which contains notice of a large number of awards is the conferring of the Distinguished Flying Cross on Major W. A. Bishop, the Canadian flyer "most successful and most fearless fighter of the air, whose acts of outstanding bravery have already been recognized by awards of the Victoria Cross, the Distinguished Service Order, Bar to Distinguished Service Order, and Military Cross." The Distinguished Flying Cross is conferred for "signally valuable service in personally destroying 25 enemy machines in 12 days, of which five were destroyed on the last day of his service at the front. The total number of machines destroyed by this distinguished officer is 72, and his value as a moral factor to the Royal Air Force cannot be over-estimated."

British Fleet Increased

On the fourth anniversary of Great Britain's entrance into the war, the secretary of the admiralty makes public figures and facts which throw an encouraging light upon the naval situation of the allies.

The British navy, apart from the American forces which forms an integral part of its fighting strength, consists at the present time of warships and auxiliary craft, whose total displacements reaches 6,500,000 tons against 2,500,000 in August, 1914. During that period about three-quarters of a million tons have been lost but at the present time the growth of the fleet shows an increase of 100 per cent.

Similarly with the personnel, the original 148,000 officers and men have grown to 324,000. Sir Eric Geddes, the first lord of the admiralty, speaking in the house of commons on March, 1918, was able to express the opinion that the British and American naval forces in the North Sea, the north Atlantic and the English channel were sinking submarines as fast as they were built, and on July 20, says the statement, he made the welcome announcement that during the last five months the world output of tonnage has been less than the tonnage lost from all causes by no less than 100,000 tons per month.

The above medal and diploma, given by the Winchester Arms Co. has been won by the following Clareholm boys: Morley Tillotson, Herold Chamberlain, S. Chamberlain and Wilbur Annable.

The Interest Increasing

In what? The gospel meetings. Held where? In the Opera House. Conducted by whom? Evangelist Miller.

Mr. Miller not only preaches the truth and directness of power but sings it with great effectiveness. Do not fail to hear him sing accompanied by his wonderful little organ. The service commences each evening at 8 o'clock, preceded by a thirty minute song service. Please remember that these are union services and they will be held in the opera house on Sunday as well as on week nights. The Evangelist will give a special address to women and girls on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be a mass meeting for men and boys on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. At the same hour Mrs. McKelighan, of Winnipeg, will speak to women in the Methodist Church.

Beginning Monday afternoon, a series of popular chalk-talks will be given to the boys and girls. Be sure to get your boys and girls out to the first of these and they will be on hand for all the rest. These have proved a tremendous success. These talks will commence each afternoon at 3 o'clock. Come just as often as you possibly can to these services which are FREE TO ALL.

FIVE-MILE ITEMS

Owing to the correspondent spending the day at the Fair, last week, there were no news items from this district last week. One cannot crowd too many exciting things in one common uneventful life in one week.

Reiner Lovick, and family, from Saskatoon, have been visiting with Mike Fredericksen.

Five-Mile school opened on Monday after being closed all summer. Miss Alice Scratch, of Monarch, is the teacher. She will board at Jack Rutberg's.

The Sunshin Club will meet at the home of Mrs. P. T. Gibble, on Wednesday, Aug. 14th.

The Five-Mile Red Cross unit will meet at T. P. Mosley's on Wednesday, Aug. 14th. Bert Mosley and family are moving into Roby's house on the Blackberry farm.

EDITOR'S NOTES

LOYD GEORGE'S ANNIVERSARY
MESSAGE TO THE EMPIRE

"Hold Fast" was the keynote of the message to the British Empire issued by Premier Lloyd George and promulgated in a dramatic way throughout the kingdom at the hour of 9 o'clock on Aug. 4th. The message was read to the audience in all the theatres, concert halls and other places where people were assembled, including the moving picture houses. Sealed copies of the message had been distributed to the managers of all these places with the request that they read it at 9 o'clock. The message follows:

Message to Britain

"The message which I send to the people of the British Empire on the fourth anniversary of their entry into the war is 'Hold Fast.'"

"We are in this war for no selfish ends. We are in it to recover freedom for the nations which have been brutally attacked and despoiled, and to prove that no people, however powerful, can surrender itself to the lawless ambitions of militarism without meeting retribution, certain and disastrous, at the hands of the free nations of the world. To stop short of victory for this cause would be to compromise the future of mankind."

Prospects of Victory

"Because our prospects of victory have never been so bright as they are today. Six months ago the rulers of Germany deliberately rejected the just and reasonable settlement proposed by the Allies. 'Throwing aside the last mark of moderation, they partitioned Russia, enslaved Roumania, and attempted to seize supreme power by overthrowing the Allies in a final desperate attack. Thanks to the invincible bravery of all the Allied armies, it is now evident to all that this dream of universal conquest, for the sake of which only they wanted to prolong the war, can never be fulfilled."

Battle Not Yet Won

"But the battle is not yet won. The great autocrat of Prussia will still endeavor, by violence or guile, to avoid defeat, and so give militarism a new lease of life. We cannot seek to escape the horrors of war for ourselves by laying them up for our children. Having set our hands to the task, we must see it through, till a just and lasting settlement is achieved."

"In no other way can we ensure a world set free from war."

"Hold Fast"

"(Signed) LOYD GEORGE"

What the Insurance Man Said

Some time ago a certain interesting exchange of correspondence took place between one of the largest Canadian mail order houses and an insurance and real estate agent well known in the western town that is not necessary to name here.

The insurance man, about two years previously had sent an order to the big catalogue concern for his first and last out-of-town order of such character, but the distant firm in the meantime kept sending him their huge catalogues two or three times a year. One day the insurance man received a letter from the mail order house which read, in part: "Dear Sir:—For nearly two years we have missed your name from our list of out-of-town customers, we would be pleased to have further orders from you and to give your name a place again upon our books."

After studying for some little time over this latest system of conducting a retail business by long distance, the insurance man replied to the letter as follows: "Gentlemen:—I have received your letter stating that you have missed my name of late from your list of clients. I may say that I too have just completed an examination of my own business lists, and my books do not even reveal that I ever had the pleasure of serving you or of being a client on a single occasion. I shall be pleased to have you place a portion of your insurance, real estate collections and general brokerage business in my hands."

However, as I am quite positive your firm will be in no wise disposed to place business with me, situated as I am at such a considerable distance, I may further state that I too, do not feel at all disposed to transact business with you for this and other reasons, and you may discontinue sending me your catalogues as early as date as suits your convenience."

"By the way, I only sent you one order, which was for paint some two years ago, and while the paint was a cheap variety of red, my conscience has had a distinct self-satisfaction ever since the order went in. I have come to the conclusion long since that the place where my friends are, where I am furnished with my living and a few luxuries, and where I am raising my family is quite good enough a place for me to maintain when I have any orders for goods to hand out."

"While it may be quite true that you do quote a little—very little—lower price on certain articles, I am not quite so sure that your goods have a uniform guarantee of quality. By doing my buying at home, I know where to go if I do not get satisfactory goods, and I know that my local merchants are only too willing to correct any errors made."

"But aside from all this, I figure I have hung my hat up in this town, and that it is my duty to support it. So far as I can learn, your firm does not patronize a single business institution in this town, nor any of the farmers in the community surrounding us. Neither do you pay any of the taxes here, nor do you contribute to the support of a single one of the various enterprises that the business men and citizens of the town are supporting liberally and regularly."

"I figure it that if even one-half our citizens not sending money to you now would all at once determine to patronize you by catalogue instead of the local business firms, this town would slip back just 100 per cent. to what it is today. My personal business would also slump 100 per cent., and so would that of nearly every concern here. And this I decide to send away for my goods it was when I decide that the usefulness of my town is gone and it is time to sepiaph was written.—Yours truly, etc."

The rush continues to the scene of the recent find of gold and platinum on Tobey Creek, a tributary of the Columbia river, south of Golden. It is said that a little town called Atholville in the Windermere district. The strike is apparently quite extensive, the area over which it is known to extend along the creek is between four and five miles. Old placer miners all over B. C. and Alberta have picked up their tools and are flocking to the area and if further developments are found to be based on substantial returns, we may expect to see a bigger rush for the new diggings."

BLOOD AND TREASURE

A pamphlet issued by the British War Mission to America, entitled "Blood and Treasure" gives the following facts in regard to Britain's part in the war.

It states that in August, 1914, when the war broke out Great Britain's entire military strength was 700,000 men, composed of 250,000 regulars, 200,000 reserves in civilian life, and 250,000 partially trained troops belonging to territorials.

"Altogether Great Britain has enlisted in her Army and Navy one out of every four males, from birth to non-agenarian, in the entire British Isles."

"The first expeditionary force of 100,000 arrived in France in mid-August and took part in the famous retreat and subsequent battle at the Marne with decisive effect."

"On August 31, 1914, Lord Kitchener asked for 100,000 volunteers. They were enrolled in less than a fortnight. In the fifth week of the war 175,000 men enrolled—20,000 in a single day. By July 31, 1915, 2,000,000 had enlisted."

On May 26th, 1916, King George in a message to his people announced that 4,041,000 had enlisted voluntarily in the army and navy. In October, 1917, three million men were serving abroad on the various fronts, and the Minister of National Service stated in the House of Commons on January 14, 1918, that the Empire had contributed 7,500,000 since the war broke out."

"Men too old for service, 250,000 strong, have enrolled themselves in volunteer brigades, armed and equipped at their own expense, for Home defence."

"Our casualties in 1917 are believed to exceed the French casualties in this year by 500,000. Our heavy losses in 1917 are due mainly to the heavy fighting in Flanders during which we had 27,000 men killed in one month."

From the beginning of the war up to the middle of October, 1915, that is about fourteen months, we lost in killed alone 6,660 officers and 95,000 men."

"The figures of the great battles which began on March 21, 1918, are not available, but the total of the British officer's casualties published in April alone exceeds 19,000."

"The magnitude of the struggle as compared with previous battles may be judged from the following figures:

"In the battle of Verdun the Germans had 14 divisions between January and March 22, 1916."

"In the great German attack of 1918 they used 127 divisions between March 21 and April 17, 1918, of these 127 divisions concentrated their attacks on the British."

The Navy
"In 1917 the number of personnel stood at 430,000. This does not include those in the Mercantile Marine or in the Auxiliary Fleet of patrol vessels, mine sweepers, etc."

The last named are at least 50,000 in number, about 10,000 of whom have given their lives to the cause. The British mine sweepers numbered 12, they now number 3,300."

"The war broke out the Navy has been instrumental in transporting to the British Isles and to those of our Allies."

"Two million horses and mules."

"Five hundred thousand vehicles."

"Twenty-five million tons of oil and fuel."

"In addition 120,000,000 tons of food and other materials have been moved in British ships."

"This great task has not been accomplished without naval expenditure unparalleled in British or any other country. Its achievements is the finest possible proof of the supremacy of the British navy, and of its insuperable value to the cause."

"The British Navy has driven the surface warships of the Central Powers into harbor, and kept them there. Early in the war it destroyed Von Spee's squadron at the Falkland Islands and rounded up raiders. At the moment only one enemy surface vessel that managed to break out is unaccounted for."

"The 140,000 square nautical miles of the North sea, an area larger than Germany, are patrolled incessantly in all weathers."

"In one month British warships proper destroyed 1,000,000 sea-miles in home waters alone. In the same period the wreckage of auxiliary ships, including mine-sweepers and patrol boats was 6,000,000—250 times the circuit of the globe."

"In regard to the aerial blockade it may be noted that in 1915, 256 out of 1400 ships eluded the patrol squadrons, at the end of 1916 only 60 out of 3000 escaped being intercepted. In one month of 1917 not a single vessel trading with neutral countries crossed the North Atlantic and Arctic oceans without being held up and examined."

7,000 Prisoners Taken

Seven thousand prisoners and 100 guns have been captured in the Franco-British offensive. A. Bonor Lay, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced.

According to reports received on Aug. 8, the Allies have captured the towns of Moriel, Despain, Aubertourt and Morlaucourt, the heights west of Creisy, and the heights south of Morlaucourt.

The total revenue from all sources of the Dominion government from April 1, the beginning of the fiscal year, to July 31st, was $7,054,000, an increase of nearly $200,000 over the same period last year.

Franco-British tanks have crossed the Artois-Lille railway in the new drive begun. German positions just south of the Aisne river were heavily attacked by the British. Their assault extended to the south where their right wing joined the French. Three-quarters of an hour after the British attacked the Germans the French took up the battle.

Will YOU Give 3-½ Cents a Day to Keep

A Child From Starving?

If you will, read this appeal carefully then decide what share you will take in helping avert the greatest tragedy of all time.

1,250,000 CHILDREN ARE FACING SLOW STARVATION IN BELGIUM TODAY.

The Belgian Relief Commission has not the means to supply these growing children with the food that is necessary. THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS. This great relief fund has largely been administered through Americans; the break between the States and Germany has brought about a crisis; there is more need of funds now than at any previous time.

THE GREAT RELIEF WORK MUST AND WILL GO ON. WE MUST DO OUR SHARE.

At the present time the growing child in Belgium receives only a "hunk of bread and a bowl of soup" each day. It is not enough; they must have more—or starve.

For 3-½ cents a day the Relief Commission can supply one child with an extra "meal" of a biscuit made with fat or lard and a cup of cocoa, not much, but it is the difference between life and death, between health and disease, for the children of heroic Belgium.

ALBERTA HAS BEEN BLESSED WITH TWO RECORD-BREAKING CROPS.

We are prosperous—the future looks bright—we are in a position to help. How many starving children can you look after? How many will we look after?

HOW MANY WILL YOU FEED?

$12.00 a year, the price the Alberta farmer received for eight bushels of his wheat, will give this extra "meal" to one child for a whole year. 10c a day or $36.00 a year will keep three children from starvation. $60.00 a year will feed five; $120.00 a year will feed 10.

WERE YOU EVER HUNGRY?

Can you picture starvation, the pinched faces, the piteous cries?

IF THE CHILDREN WERE STARVING IN ALBERTA you would help—

YOU WILL HELP IN THIS CASE

You can't pass by the children's cry for food from starving Belgium! AND YOU MUST ACT NOW

The thought that you are feeding some of these unfortunates each day will bring you happiness. Think of the eager little hands reaching for the meal you supply.

Your own meals will taste sweeter when you do your share. The paper in which you are reading this is doing its share by publishing this appeal without charge—WHAT WILL YOU DO?

You may send contributions by the week, month, or in one lump sum. You are ASSURED that your money is used for the purpose it is sent.

President Wilson and General Booth.

General Booth, for the Salvation Army, sent a cable on Independence day to President Wilson, in which he expressed the hope that out of the catastrophe of the war will come a lasting union of the peoples of the English-speaking world for the peace of nations, the freedom of the oppressed, and the brotherhood of all under the banner of Christ—the banner of love to God and goodwill to men.

President Wilson sent the following message in reply:—"I have received with profound appreciation and gratitude your generous message of the Fourth of July, and thank you for it most sincerely."

Miss Eva Booth, the General's sister, who is in command of the Salvation Army organization in the States, set out to raise a million dollars for special war work in connection with the American troops. Thanks to the generosity of the American people she has received two million dollars, or just double what was originally anticipated.

Only a Ring-Off—"Did you ever get a prop, assistant?" "Once, my dear. A gentleman proposed over the telephone, but he had the wrong number."—London Tit-Bits.

"So your voracious cousin doesn't want to go to the war? What gave him cold feet?" "I'm not sure, but I think it was being caught in the draft."

A total of 57,000 men added to the Canadian Expeditionary Force since the beginning of May absolutely vindicates compulsory service. The number of men secured during June was not nearly as large as the figures for May, but it was large enough to show that reinforcements adequate to the army's needs are being secured, and that, after all, it is all that matters.

Loaded—in olden times in Scotland it was customary for an officer to go round the towns and villages to see that the inhabitants had no weapons of war in their possession. On one of these tours an officer called at the house of a worthy couple and put the question to the old man: "Any weapons of war in this house?" After scratching his head, staidly looked at his better half and said: "Dead, aye. Pit not yer tongue, sideways!"—London Tit-Bits.

Revival Notes

Rev. Herrel and Dr. Wyllie closed their revival meetings last Sunday night. Those who have attended the meetings set a high value on the work accomplished, and are very enthusiastic over the results.

Rev. Miller opened his evangelistic campaign last Sunday night in the Methodist church. There was a good attendance although many were conspicuous for their absence. The meetings have been held during the week in the I. O. O. F. Hall, 4 Mr. Houghton, of Nanaimo, gave an interesting account of his early life and conversion at the hall last Monday night. Mr. Houghton, last year had one of the largest barber businesses in Calgary which he gave up to enter the mission work. He is a forceful speaker, and possesses a passion to do good.

Some one said that the revival meetings were showing up the real Christians in the community. We do not think that is a fair statement. They have drawn a line between the demonstrative and the undemonstrative Christians. While one cannot but admire the plain outspoken testimony in the public meeting, it is the confession of Christ in the life on the street and in social and business affairs that counts the most in Christian service. The afternoon Bible talks have not been very well attended, but they are undoubtedly the most helpful meetings of them all.

They Did—"Did any of your ancestors do anything to cause posterity to remember them?" asked the haughty woman. "I reckon they did," replied the old farmer. "My grandfather put a mortgage on the place that ain't paid on yet."—Boston Transcript.

"A Rich Man's Darling"

Julie Le Fabrier, Madame Srau's most attractive dress model, was always dreaming of romance, with a capital R. She didn't really marry; Mue-Ricardo, whose dresses so wonderfully fitted her, and all the other smart customers, but she had her visions and when she saw a picture of Lee Brooks, the millionaire sportsman in a paper, all the day dreams were his pleasant face. But Lee had his troubles. His father was dissipating a fortune every few weeks on that same Madame Ricardo, who thought her own husband safely engaged in a spring revolution in South America. A chance night of him changed her plans from a trip to the Grand Tides Hotel at Moose Bay to a quiet hiding place in the next town. But she had ordered her new gowns sent to the Grand Tides, and Julie was sent there with them. Old man Brooks was going there too, but Lee decided to beat him to it and she took a look at this expensive play. There a stage series of events, which Julie took as part of the Romance, it was the little seamstress that he found dining in Madame's gowns and led in her name. Lee was a well young man, and he did not stop until he had eloped with the supposed rich man's darling. When the papers came out the next morning with his headline, "Young Hunter Poaches on His Father's Preserve," there was the devil and all to pay, with arrests, disownings and tearful brides, until old man Brooks decided that he had found a very acceptable recompense for his lost darling in his new daughter.

Mme. Petrova

Born in Warsaw, Poland; educated in Brussels, Paris and London. Had versatile career in London, where studied to be a musician; took up singing, piano and violin. Finally became a journalist, was promoted to dramatic department of "London Times"—went on the stage at the age of twenty. Appeared in Shakespearean repertoire, then played Strinberg, Ibsen, and Henri Bernstein in Europe—next went into the vaudeville, was seen at the Pavilion Theatre in London by Jesse Lasky, who was then brought to America to make debut at the Follies Bergere, in New York City, under the management of Henry B. Harris. Later starred in "Paukies" and "The Revolt" under management of the Shubert, then went into vaudeville at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, becoming a headliner over night. At the Rex Theatre Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 12 and 13th.

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF WAR

The fourth anniversary of the beginning of the war was observed throughout Britain, not only as a day of prayer and remembrance in churches of all denominations, but also as a day of thanksgiving and hope. The news of the glorious triumph of the Allied arms at the front has sent a thrill through the whole country.

The newspapers are not forgetful of the nation's past sorrows, but characterize the anniversary as marking the turning point of the war and the breaking of a new dawn for the deliverance of the world from the menace of German militarism.

In Hyde Park, as elsewhere throughout England, shrines were erected where thousands laid flowers in memory of the dead.

King George, Queen Mary and members of both houses of parliament, attended special services at St. Margaret's Church, Westminster. The Archbishop of Canterbury delivered the sermon.

The congregation included the premiers of British dominions, with other representatives of the Empire.

It is a pity the fourth anniversary was not publicly observed in the same way throughout Canada. Nevertheless there are few whose hearts have not been filled with gratitude at the news of victory for the Allies. Grateful we should be to the brave boys who are giving their lives for us, and grateful to the great "Father of all" who out of the chaos and darkness, will yet bring liberty and light.

Farmers are Stopping the Profit-Eating Leaks this Year

Comparatively few farmers fall or lose heavily because of misfortune such as fire, wind or drought. The majority of failures and losses are from combined little leaks, and it is the many little leaks that are being studied and stopped.

HERE ARE SOME OF THEM—Feeding Wastes, Disease from Unsanitary Buildings, Unprotected Machinery. There are others but here are enough to kill the profits on any farm.

THE REMEDY—Concrete Granary Foundations and Floors, Concrete Barn and Hog House Floors, a Machine Shed. None of them are expensive and each will quickly pay for itself. Call and let us give you prices.
